

The Intertidal Archaeology of Coastal Uist

- An overview of the Uist timeline and its unique physical geography
- Intertidal peat deposits and forest remains – a Uist speciality
- Associated anthropogenic artefacts
- Other coastal features – eroding archaeology, middens, wrecks, harbours, nausts and the industrial archaeology of Kelping
- Geological and anthropogenic climate changes → rising sea levels – threats, opportunities and the future ...

An Introduction for ACFA members by Simon Davies